

Archery Season
Opens Monday

As many as 18,000 bow and arrow hunters may stalk deer in the 36-day season which gets underway October 1, the conservation department estimates.

The record set last year, 15,743 licensed big game archers, has an excellent chance of being topped with the fast growing favor of bow & arrow style hunting.

Steady increase in archers has been noted since 1946 when only 1,800 purchased licenses.

Liberalization of the 1951 season permits the taking of either sex deer in more counties than before. Male or female deer may be hunted through November 5 in every county in the state except Keweenaw, Houghton, Dickinson, Menominee, Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego, Clare, Chippewa and Drummond Island, and parts of Bay and Huron. In listed counties only male deer with three-inch or more antlers continue to be lawful. Either sex whitetails are legal through December 15 in Alcona county.

Any archer who does not get his limit of one deer is eligible to purchase a gun license to hunt in the general firearm season November 15-30.

Resident bow and arrow deer and bear license again is $3.50, as is the resident firearm deer and bear license. Nonresidents will continue to pay $1 for the bow permit and $3 for the firearm license.

Deer now are beginning to come out more in the open. Acorn crop is good this year and more deer are likely to be found around the ridges.

In spite of the record starvation last winter and spring, I. W. Bartlett, department deer specialist, says there are still more deer in Roscommon, Crawford, Oscoda and parts of surrounding counties than in any other section of the state. About 35,000 whitetails were lost primarily in the northern lower peninsula.

Indicating the abundance of deer, the recent 4-H club annual drive on a square mile in Crawford county produced 74 head by actual count.

About three-fourths of last season's bowmen confined their hunting range to six counties. Hunter concentrations were highest in Roscommon, Oscoda, Crawford, and parts of Cheboygan and Montmorency counties. These counties accounted for nearly 1,300 of the 1,648 deer dropped.

Seven percent of the Robinhoods were successful in 1949, close to twice as many got deer last year.

A Junior High
Lesson For All

A topic selected in an 8th grade English class was so well answered by Bernadine King that it is well worth while to publish for all to read and to contemplate upon.

The subject was "What can we do to help the United States stay a great country?" Miss King's paper answered the question in a four part rejoinder. Number 1: Keeping your courage up at all times, even in war.

Number 2: By stopping gossip and the spreading of propaganda.

Number 3: By finishing high school instead of quitting school, for an education is very important too.

Number 4: Always remember the reputation of a country is made by its people.

We all play a very important part, so do yours well.

Allow Held Soldier
To Go "On His Own"

Cpl. Howard Walker of Fort Slocum, New York was allowed to leave the County Jail here on Monday to return to New York State "on his own" after having been held here for the New York State Police, following his arrest by State Police of the Houghton Lake Post.

Cpl. Walker made a non-scheduled plane flight from Elmira, New York to Roscommon and found himself at the law office of Hiram Grimsom, of the Houghton Lake post, said Cpl. Walker rented a small plane from the Western Flying school at the Westchester County airport, Harrisburg, N. Y. Friday for a flight to Elmira, N. Y. When he called his wife to inform her of his safe arrival at Elmira she informed him that his mother, who resides on the east shore of Houghton Lake had suffered a stroke and was seriously ill.

Cpl. Walker immediately filed a new flight plan from Elmira to Roscommon and took off.

He arrived at the Roscommon airport Friday afternoon. In the meantime New York police had sent out an alarm for the plane and Walker's arrest, reporting that Walker had been named in a larceny warrant issued in New York.

He was picked up at the airport by the New York police's request and Cpl. Grimsom said he would be held pending further information from New York authorities.

Police have also impounded the plane.

Cpl. Walker, a veteran of 13 years in the army, is stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y.

He was at first thought to be absent without leave from his army post but in a phone call from Fort Slocum to the Avon Lake Monday morning army officials stated, "Cpl. Walker of the radio and television department of the Armed Forces Information School at Fort Slocum, New York is not absent without leave. He will be on emergency automatic leave until midnight Tuesday, September 25. He was first reported absent without leave because he neglected to sign out in the fort's leave book and because he failed to leave behind a copy of his leave request and order so it could be processed."

Three Prison
Laborers Escape

Three convict inmates of Camp Lehman located at Hartwick Pines State Park stole a guard's car Sunday night and escaped, it was reported by Sheriff William Golinick. The stolen car was found in Saginaw late Monday but on Tuesday the three escapees were still at large.

The men are Aloysis Welch, 35, Edward Schroeder, 28, and Anthony Nowak, 34, all believed to be from Detroit. All three were camp workers being a cook, a cooks helper and a barber.

According to word received by Sheriff Golinick all of the camp inmates except the escaped trio were attending a Sunday night movie when the break was made. This is the first escape made from the camp set up under the joint jurisdiction of the Conservation Department and State Prison Board. Prison inmates near parole time and not habitual or heavy offenders are given a chance to work in the camp on conservation work on an honor system.

Although the system has been in effect several years at other previously set camps in the state, it is believed to be only the second or third break attempted. All three men had but a very short time left to serve. Upon their apprehension, they will have to serve out the maximum time of their sentences and are open to further prosecution for automobile theft and escape.

Mrs. Thomas C. Douglas attended the bride in a pink ballerina length dress of pink net over taffeta. It featured puffed sleeves with ruffles and the full skirt was fashioned with a ruffle below the waist line. She wore a wrist corsage of pink carnations.

Thomas Douglas was best man for his brother.

A reception followed the wedding. The refreshment table was centered with an all white wedding cake. Tapers on either side were tied with pink bows and the cake knife was tied with a white bow. Numerous bouquets of flowers were placed about the room where cake and wedding ring ice cream molds were served buffet style.

are loath to forego.

Or the citizens must be prepared to pay the price of inflation by ever higher taxes in a perpetual cycle until the point of diminishing returns is finally reached.

All of this may serve to publicize the need of reorganization of government itself whereby public services, instead of being ever augmented, may be actually curtailed. Reorganization itself will achieve little economy unless the citizen is willing to forego some of the benefits he now receives. The record of certain pressure groups in getting all they can for themselves at Washington and Lansing does not augur that reorganization can be accomplished, readily.

What can YOU do about it?

If you have not written a letter recently to your representative and senator at Washington and Lansing, insisting on RE-DUCE SPENDING for public services from top to bottom, you have contributed indirectly to the inflation trend.

If you have not voted for candidates whose record is clearly one for fiscal sanity, you also have added to the fuels of more inflation.

The situation, serious as it appears, is not hopeless IF enough citizens arouse themselves to do something about it.

Wanted — A Genius

A few years ago the people of England were sold the idea that government was a far more efficient manager of industrial enterprise than private citizens. Since then, England has become a socialized state and the theory of the superiority of the state as a producer within the framework of democratic government has been put to the acid test. The result has been tragically disillusioning. In the words of Bernard Harris, writing in The Sunday Express, London, England, "Socialization has failed...because the genius who might make it work can't be found."

The people of England are discovering that governments are run by ordinary men with no greater capacities for pulling rabbits out of hats than the rest of us. They have also found that as a producer, government is utterly incompetent measured by the standards of free enterprise.

The state directors of the gas and electric industries are in trouble too. They forecast higher charges and power cuts that will go on for years. They complain of the high ash content in the coal and charge their near neighbor, the government-run railroads, with profiteering. The nationalized airline and cable industries are no better off. Deficits and poor service apparently plague virtually every commercial activity in which the government has become involved—with taxpayers and consumers footing the bill.

"It is one of the defects of socialization," concludes The Express, "that you can't always give the important jobs to the men best fitted by experience for them. The waiting queue is always a long one, and too often men have to be selected for reasons other than competence." Even if the genius could be found who might make socialism work, it would be most unlikely that he would get the job.

IT'S A FIREBALL ENGINE

Maybe you're missing something BIG

WE know how you feel when a car has given you faithful service. You like it. You're loyal to it. And that's only human.

But just suppose you found out that some other car could make familiar roads seem a lot smoother.

Suppose some other car held the curves in a way you'd never felt before.

Suppose some other car had more thrilling power—steered like a dream—held its course like an airliner on the beam—and let you finish a long day's drive feeling daisy fresh.

Wouldn't you feel you're missing something big unless you tried it out?

There is such a car. Its name is Buick.

It has big soft coil springs on every wheel. It has a Fireball Engine. It has a "front-end geometry" that does miracles with steering. And it has Dynaflo Drive.*

And incidentally, it wears a price tag that makes it a very smart buy compared to anything else you own.

We'd like to have you try this car. You'll never know what you're missing till you do.

How about giving us a call—or coming in to see us real soon?

*mt, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

* A new ROADMASTER optional at extra cost on other Buicks.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

DYNAFLO DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING • DUAL VENTILATION
PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT • TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE

MICHIGAN FEATURE SERIES prepared by MICHIGAN TOURIST COUNCIL No. 38

A "Vandenberg for Governor" movement has been launched quietly on a state-wide basis by friends of Lieut. Governor William C. Vandenberg of Holland. The West Michigan official has not said he would not run, and he has indicated strongly that he is receptive to any cause in the interest of good government. His supporters are hopeful, and the above slogan may yet develop.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr. has joined the list of state officials who have press agents at their command. A recent Alger speech chastized Governor Williams as being a "puppet" for his press agent, Paul Weber, former Detroit secretary of the American Newspaper Guild, affiliated with the CIO. Republican speechers, in some instances, are being ghosted capably by Arnold Levin, former Detroit newspaper correspondent at Lansing who is now publicist for the Republican State Central committee.

If enough Republican hopefuls enter the race for the United States Senator, former Governor Kim Sigler may dust off his cowboy hat and make a race for the nomination. His theme? Probably "morality in government." The sole G.O.P. entry to date is Auditor General John B. Martin Jr., of Grand Rapids. Sigler confides to friends that he's interested but hasn't made up his mind.

There is more than $100,000,000 building program going on in Michigan. Broken down, some $86,000,000 in state buildings and a $30,000,000 program for community hospitals which is one-half completed. Fourteen hospitals have been completed under the plan. Funds are federal and local, building is under state guidance. Sixteen more hospitals are under construction.

Governor Williams has asked Attorney General Frank G. Millard to intervene in a Washington case involving the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project which would open the St. Lawrence river to navigation and consequently

The new gasoline tax issue still is smoldering. The C.I.O. led Michigan Citizens committee says it has the 100,000 petition signatures to force a state referendum on the law. A lengthy court battle can be expected if and when the petition is submitted to the state board of canvassers. The board is sure to reject them, basing the action on two previous supreme court decisions turning down attempts to force referendum on earlier gas tax increases.

Average per-capita income in Michigan has gone up to $1,583, according to the 1950 Census. Ten years ago the average income was $649. That means a 144 percent increase—which, incidentally is below the national average of 150 percent boost over the 10 years. Kansas incomes are up 150 percent; Arkansas, 227 percent.

New Business Enterprise Started in Area

Driving north and west of Roscommon about four miles on M-76 and M-18 you will notice a new sign which marks the beginning of a new industry in this vicinity, "Evergreen Ranch"—Breeders of South American Chinchillas is owned and operated by Harold and Dagney Ogren. The basement ranch was begun two years ago with two pairs of Chinchillas and has grown to twenty—from two cages to twenty-four. Also on the ranch are six pairs of boarders and offspring, which brings the entire herd to forty animals. These last were brought in to be cared for here as an investment by their owners.

These animals are not chinchilla rabbits as so many believe. They are genuine South American Chinchillas. Natives of the Andes Mountains, they were hunted almost to extinction by 1919. In 1923 Mr. Chapman, a mining man, succeeded in bringing eleven animals to this country. The chinchillas in this country stem from this small herd. The first pair sold from this herd brought about $3200.

The animals weigh about a pound. They have a head which resembles a rabbit and a tail like that of a squirrel. The soft texture of its fur defies description. This quality accounts for its being so highly prized. Sixty to eighty hairs grow from a single chinchilla follicle as compared to only one in a fox or mink follicle. The pearl gray rodents need very little care. It costs about $4.00 a year to feed one. They thrive on hay and pellets, and occasionally vegetables and raisins. They are friendly, nocturnal, odorless and vermin-free. They usually mate at six to eight months, have one or three litters a year, and live to three litters a year, and live to some 5000 people in Canada and the United States are now breeding the furry little herds as a profitable hobby or business. All you need to start with is a pair of chinchillas in love and they sell from $800 to $1650 a pair. Very few pets are sold as yet as there is still a demand for breeding stock.

Drop in and get acquainted with these interesting animals.

Skip Makes a Slip

Miss Gilbert, the teacher, was telling me how Skip Lawson almost went to sleep in her physics class.

She noticed him nodding and—since they were discussing electricity—said in a loud voice: "Now maybe MR. LAWSON will explain what electricity is." Skip started up, looked around wildly, and blurted out, "Gee! I used to know, but I forgot."

"What a loss to science!" sighs Miss Gilbert. "No one to this day knows what electricity really is, and here we have a genius who could explain it—but forgot!"

From where I sit, I hope this taught Skip that you're better off if you admit you don't know all answers. Some grownups haven't learned that yet—like the ones who are always telling other people what's best and what's right and what's wrong. I like a temperate glass of beer, myself, but if you prefer buttermilk I won't argue. I've seen too many "know-it-alls" turn out to be wrong!
